

European bans on surfactant trigger transatlantic debate.

U.S. and European regulators and researchers disagree over risks of a common class of surfactants.